GENERAL NEWS.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.)

Vermont Greenbackers.

BURLINGTON, Aug. 1.—The state greenback convention to day, Nelson Nice presiding, adopted the usual resolutions and adjourned, to meet in St. Albans, Aug. 22d, when a state ticket will be nominated.

Murder Near Alton, Ill.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 2.—An Alton, Ill., special says: The dead bodies of a mulatto woman and child four years old were found in a cabin three miles from the city to day. Her step-father and a man named William White were arrested on suspicion.

Banquet to Gen. Fremont.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2—At the Sturtevant House to-night a reception was given by the associated pioneers of California to Gen. John C. Fremont, prior to his departure for Arizona, where he will enter on his duties as governor. Gen. Gibson, of Fort Wadsworth, presided. On his right sat Gen. Fremont, and on his left Ex-Gov. Price of New Jersey. A letter of regret at his inability to be present at the reception, and of his warm friendship for Gen. Fremont was received from Gen. Sherman.

Butler and Kearney.

BOSTON, Aug. 2.—Gen. Butler published a card this evening positively denying the published statement that Kearney has come to Massachusetts at his suggestion and in his interest.

The Greenback Majority in Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 1.—In the county election to-day the national greenback party elected the entire ticket by majorities ranging from 2,000 to 6,000, polling about 16,000 votes. At the 8th ward polls an affray occurred in which ex-councilman Dougherty shot and killed Joseph Day, colored Democrat.

Charley Foster Sees it Also.

NEW YORK, Aug 2.—A Times special says the 9th congressional district Republicans in Ohio have nominated Foster. The latter made a speech declaring that the president had alienated most of the leaders and the great mass of Republicans. This is remarkable coming from a well-known supporter of Hayes.

Two Great Men.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The Times' Boston special has the following version of the Butler-Kearney affair: Butler called on Kearney at [illegible] Becker's house in Brighton Tuesday evening, and the two great men, with their private secretaries, were closeted for half an hour. No one else was admitted, and what was said remained a profound secret, their private secretaries being as dumb as oysters. Butler has published the following card: "I see it published in a telegram from California that Kearney came to Massachusetts at my suggestion and in my interest. In justice to Kearney, as this is one of the lies sent from San Francisco to injure him, allow me to say that it is absolutely false in every particular. I had no communication with Kearney directly or indirectly, or with any friend of his on any subject whatever until days after he came to this city, and then at my leisure I called on him as I do upon any other person of prominence who visits Boston to whom I believe my visit would be agreeable."

[illegible] Note on Dennis Kearney.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—A Graphic correspondent had an interview with Comptroller John Kelly to-day on the prospects of the new political party, when the subject of Dennis Kearney's eastern trip was broached. Kelly expressed belief that its effects would be unimportant, both because of the difference in interests in the two sections and because of Kearney's ignorance of the political situation and needs here and methods in use. He said: "You will see that such methods as are in use in San Francisco would be inapplicable in New York. His success has been undoubtedly due to the Chinese labor issue, and there he had every opportunity to work on prejudices against Chinese, which are so strong there. No such issue exists here, and it is doubtful if he is familiar with the issues which he will really have to meet. He will doubtless be well received and will have immense audiences of just the people he wants to reach. Of that I have no doubt, but that it will have any permanent result I do not believe. On the Pacific slope he had behind him an organized party. Here he has nothing of the kind, and he will probably find that none of the parties are thoroughly in sympathy with his views." From what followed Kelly evidently regarded many of Kearney's ideas as largely chimerical, and anticipated little trouble to his party in the city from any influence he might exercise, though he gave Kearney full credit for honesty of opinion and for something of careful thought on the subject in which he is interested. Kelly evidently did not show any uneasiness over the matter. He has no fear either of Butler or Kearney, or that any of the issues they advocate will be effective in seriously influencing the Democracy of New York.

It would be all Right if Gorham were a Good Prophet.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2—The Tribune's Washington special says George C. Gorham has just returned from a visit to Pennsylvania. He thinks the Republicans will carry two congressional districts now Democratic; that the legislature of the state will be Republican, and that there is no opposition to Cameron for the senate.

Russian Consul General Dead.

Special dispatches announce the death of Baron De Bodisco, Russian consul general at New York, which occurred at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, to-day.

The Northern Pacific Railroad.

BISMARCK, Aug. 2.—A party of explorers with military escort, and headed by General Rosser, chief engineer of the Northern Pacific railroad, left this morning for Fort Keogh. The object is to ascertain the value of the Northern Pacific land grant between the Missouri and Yellowstone rivers. Drillus Morrison, of Minneapolis, accompanying the party, will report on his return to certain New York capitalists who think of building the road to the Yellowstone and accepting from the Northern Pacific Co. 5,000,000 acres of land as their consideration.

Covetous Optics.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Isaac Rhoman, secretary and treasurer of the New York Optical Co., has disappeared, and it is asserted that he has taken a large amount of money belonging to the firm.

The Usual Thing at Deadwood.

DEADWOOD, D. T., Aug. 2.—Jas. Anderson, a ranchman, who lives on a ranch about ten miles north of Deadwood, started for town early this morning on his regular trip. When two miles from the ranch he was stopped by five masked men, bound, gagged, robbed, and left in the edge of the woods. The robbers took about $20 in money and a span of horses from the wagon. They then proceeded to his ranch, where they appropriated three more horses and three saddles to their own use, telling the man who was in charge of the ranch to go and liberate Anderson.

The Jersey City Murder.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—A great number of people to-day looked at the house in Jersey City, wherein Richard Harrison Smith, a policeman, was brutally murdered Wednesday night. Three arrests have been made, that of the wife of the man killed, Covert Bennett and Delia Canfield, who is said to have been in improper relations toward Smith. Thos. Coleman, contractor, who is building a sewer in Van Horn street, was there very early on Thursday morning, looking after his property, and says between half past one and three o'clock a coupe whirled around the corner of Pacific avenue, the horse going at a full gallop, and dashed up Johnson street toward where I was sitting on a pile of dirt and stones. As the vehicle drew near the driver exclaimed, "Why don't you have your d—d light burning?" I seized a light and ran out into the street to give him opportunity to see where to drive, and as he dashed past I heard a voice inside the coupe say, "Go on, driver, go on, for God's sake, go on!" This coupe was seen by others, waiting on Pacific avenue, and it is said the police have found the driver, and upon information given them by him they arrested Bennett.

Committee on the Labor Question.

NEW YORK, Aug. 2—The congressional committee on the labor question resumed session this morning, Hewitt, president. Bartholowe, chairman of the Social Democratic party, resumed his testimony. He said times are worse now than in 1870. The non-producer now receives eight times as much as the producer. He was a piano maker, and in inflated times his wages did not go up, but after the panic fell 20 per cent. He urged establishment of a labor bureau similar to that in Massachusetts, and that no politician should be allowed to have anything to do with it. He would have no accumulation of capital in private hands, but under control of the government for the benefit of the people. In this state of society there would be no desire among workmen to accumulate, as they would be sure of constant employment. Still he would not pay one man as much wages as another, but give each a salary or wages equal to the amount and perfection of his work. The committee questioned Bartholowe on the practical working of his system of co-operative societies, but being unable to answer, he was prevailed upon to retire.

Isaac Bennett, cigar maker, advocated regulation of the use of machinery, not its destruction. He wanted machinery regulated to such extent that it would not cause enforced idleness of workmen. Bennett also advocated co-operative societies, but said cigar makers could not go into this co-operative system at present because they did not have the means.

Hewitt—"Ah, then, you do want capital!" The answer was in part that the reduction of hours of labor to eight hours per day would increase wages.

Boyd of Illinois—"Then would not reduction of the day's labor to six hours still further increase wages?" To this there was no reply.

Dolph Douai of the socialistic party next appeared and discussed the land laws of England of an ancient date. He maintained that government ought to provide land for every man and woman in the United States. He claimed that government should enact a law to prevent men from being forced to labor longer than eight hours a day.

At the afternoon session James Connelly, representing the national greenback party, ascribed depression in labor to the bond system, saying that people take their money out of manufactures and invest it in bonds, on which they obtain interest. He denounced railroad land grants and thought the government should have built its own railroads. A great means, he declared, to relieve the distress among the laboring classes, was for the government to assist them to settle on public lands and insure them support until they reaped their harvest.

Schurz's Decision Resisted.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—The land agent of the Union Pacific railroad at Omaha has issued an official circular letter giving notice that that road will not accept, as final, the recent decision of Secretary Schurz as to the right of citizens to settle on and remain in undisputed possession of lands granted the Union Pacific by the government. Any such settlers will be dealt with as trespassers.

The Yellow Fever Report.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 2.—The board of health to-day reports 36 new cases and seven deaths by yellow fever during the past 24 hours.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

He dived off the parade at Woolwich at 6 o'clock this morning and is now swimming towards Gravesend, on reaching which place he will turn with the tide and come back to Woolwich, expecting to reach there at 6 this evening, when he will again turn with the tide and repeat the trip.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

Highly "Pleasant" Relations.

PANAMA, July 24.—The relations of the state government with the nation are pleasant. The officer who took charge of the troops a few days ago in the name of the nation found but 108 stand of arms out of 1,000 purchased by the general government during the revolution of 1876. The remaining arms and a large quantity of ammunition are in the hands of the state government. A demand was made upon the president, but he refused to give them up and said that 500 men are now on the way here. The missing arms have been distributed among adherents of the state government and they are being drilled. Every preparation is making to give a warm reception to the national troops should they come with hostile intentions.

MEXICO.

A Raid into Mexico.

SAN ANTONIO, July 25.—Lieut. Kelly, with a detachment of U. S. cavalry, crossed the Rio Grande near the mouth of San Felipe creek, to recover stolen stock. On the trail of the raiders he passed near the town of Los Vacas, where he was joined by the alcalde of the town and other Mexicans, who assisted in the recovery of seventeen cattle and one horse. Mexicans rendered every possible assistance.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

The expenses of the constitutional convention were $6,763, which it devolves on the territory to pay.

The Seattle Coal Co. furnish to the Central Pacific Railroad Co. alone from five to seven thousand tons per month.

On the lower Chehalis the crops are all good, they being planted on the bottom lands the dry weather has not effected them in the least. On the upper Chehalis, the high land crops have suffered a little from the dry weather, but the bottom land crops are excellent.

What a Grant Organ Says.

[From the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

The Grant movement is the natural reaction of the Republican party against the insipidity and imbecility of the present administration. It is the yearning for a man of iron to take the place of a man of straw.

EUROPEAN POLITICS.

Beaconsfield and Carnarvon.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—In the house of lords Lord Beaconsfield, in reply, pointed out that Lord Carnarvon assented to the policy embodied in the circular stating that the question of the possession of Constantinople involved British interests, and that when the Russians were approaching Constantinople Lord Carnarvon refused to concur in ordering up the British fleet. The subject was then dropped.

In the House of Commons.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—In the house of commons Lowe assailed the abasement of the crown's treaty-making prerogative, saying: "An antiquated prerogative has been drawn from its musty scabbard and used without knowledge or consent of the people. The government had done its utmost to drag royalty into collision with the people." It was impossible that Englishmen could be contented to leave the exercise of the royal prerogative in its present position." Lowe's remarks were greeted with loud cheers from the Liberal benches. Lord John Manners, postmaster general, defended the government, and Chamberlain, radical, attacked them, dwelling on their extravagance. Debate was continued on a strictly party line.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—In the house of commons this evening the debate on Lord Hartington's resolution was resumed. Lord Elcho, Conservative, vehemently assailed the opposition, attributing the Russo-Turkish war to their conduct. W. E. Foster, Liberal, attributed the war to the government isolating itself from other powers. Like other opposition speakers he based his principal attack on the Anglo-Turkish convention which he declared was unconstitutional in the manner of its conclusion. O'Donnell, Home Rule, supported the government declaring that the opposition had not the range of its foreign policy. The debate was continued at length by less known members. At one time as many as 30 opposition members rose to their feet simultaneously. Roebuck said the conduct of the Liberals throughout the crisis had been such that he did not think either himself or Gladstone would live to see them in power again.

The Debate on Hartington's Resolution.

The Morning Post says an attempt will be made to get the debate in the house of commons on Lord Hartington's resolution protracted until 6th inst, but this does not find favor with the leaders of the other side and a division is expected about 2 o'clock Saturday morning. Considerable pairing is expected. It is also stated that every effort is making to end the session of parliament by the 17th of this month.

An Alleged Promise by Gortschakoff.

Regarding rumors telegraphed from Vienna that Gen. Todleben, commander of Russian forces, refuses to withdraw a man from the vicinity of Constantinople before withdrawal of the British fleet, a dispatch from Berlin says Prince Gortschakoff made a solemn promise at Berlin that Russian forces should be withdrawn on the evacuation of Varna and Shumla.

Trouble About Austrian Occupation.

VIENNA, Aug. 2.—The Austrian vanguard has arrived at Banjaluke, Bosnia. Turkish officials and the Austrian consul general have fled from Serajavok on account of the menacing attitude of the populace. It is stated that the troops after crossing the river have been fired upon by united Mohammedan and Christian bands who are expected to occupy defiles leading to Herzegovina as the Austrians advance.

A Hitch at Constantinople.

VIENNA, Aug. 2.—It is rumored General Todleben refuses to withdraw a man from the vicinity of Constantinople before the withdrawal of the British fleet. Difficulties are also reported in regard to the return of Turkish prisoners of war.

Exchange of Ratifications.

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—Exchange of ratifications of the treaty of Berlin will take place Saturday, as congress arranged, notwithstanding the porte's delay.

Russian Movements.

LONDON, Aug. 2—A Constantinople dispatch, dated July 31st, says the Russians are endeavoring to charter steam transports to convey 100,000 men to Odessa about a month hence; but this operation will depend upon circumstances.

The German Elections.

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—Latest returns from elections for members of the German reichstag show that there are elected 47 Conservatives, 74 National Liberals, 19 Progressists, 35 Ultramontanes, 2 Alsatian Irreconcilables, 2 Alsatian Autonomists, 3 Socialists, 8 Poles and 1 Particularist. Thirty-six second ballots are necessary.

Further Account of the German Elections.

LONDON, Aug. 2—A Berlin correspondent telegraphs that the relative positions of the various parties are unchanged. According to returns the national liberal electoral committee estimate their party has lost 15 seats, conservatives gained 20, united liberals will still have a majority in parliament. The correspondent considers that this will continue to be the case even if negotiations with the papal nuncio at Kissengen are successful, as the ultramontane party will then peacefully break up. It is estimated about six socialists have been elected.

Comfortable "Modus Vivendi."

ROME, Aug. 2.—It is stated in clerical circles that Monsigneor C. Sloisi Masella, Papal nuncio at Munich, has arrived at an understanding with Prince Bismarck at Kissengen relative to the modus vivendi between Germany and the Vatican.

Over the Plains.

[From the Boise Statesman, July 23.]

We had the pleasure of a call on Sunday from General Tilton, the leader of a large immigration, who are on their way to Oregon and Washington territory. Gen. Tilton is an old veteran and pioneer who has participated in all the Indian wars since the Blackhawk war. He is a native of Pennsylvania, and has resided in various localities of the west. He says that his train consists of twenty-three wagons, and that it is followed by other trains of twenty, twenty-five, forty and fifty-three wagons respectively. He says that 250 wagons drove into Laramie city five days after the arrival of his train at that point. What is known among the immigrants as the Umatilla train arrived here on Saturday. Most of the immigrants are from Iowa.

Italian International Exposition.

Italy has decided to hold an international exposition at Rome in 1881. It is the intention that it shall be equally as brilliant as that now open in Paris, and inducements will be offered to secure a large attendance of visitors. Italy is deficient in the matter of manufactures, in which this country excels, and there will be a good opportunity for our skilled artisans to make a display in this department. Their success in obtaining prizes at the Paris exposition will be an incentive for them to put forth their best efforts in this direction.

Means Business.

[New York Commercial Advertiser.]

It is rumored that General Palmer is to be appointed private secretary of Collector Merritt. This means business. The appointment is a proper one. To the victors belong the spoils. General Palmer, Mr. Fenton and General Merritt were all found in opposition to the Republican party in 1872. President Hayes takes a great fancy to bolters.

Electric light grows steadily into public notice, and there is every indication that before long we shall really know whether it has a permanent, practical value. The New York Times is about to introduce the process in its composing room. The cost of the gas used there is about $500 a month, at present. The cost of the electic light, it is understood, will be only $100 a month, after the first cost—$1,000—of fitting up the apparatus.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

And Here is Pinney Again.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Pinney published a card this morning containing affidavits of O. H. Bogart and Thomas B. Pheby, that while sitting in Pinney's office in April, 1875, Pinney gave E. W. Burr, president of Clay street savings bank, $500 which he explained to be on account of commissions due Burr from Pinney, for getting him money on Higgins' navy pay certificate.

The Ocean Beach Diggings.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—An expert who has been examining sand mined on the ocean beach by the combination mining company, says nothing can be made out of the diggings by the present processes, but by the use of sluice boxes, riffles, blankets, etc., each man working can average $10 per day, providing the sand averages as rich as that sampled yesterday. On the strength of this report the company will procure necessary apparatus and commence work.

The Cosmopolitan Hotel.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—The project recently entertained to close the Cosmopolitan hotel has been reconsidered. The house will hereafter be conducted on the European plan, however.

Deluded by a very Shallow Trick.

Several sharpers perpetrated a sharp trick a week ago last Wednesday. A Frenchman whose name is withheld was persuaded to draw five thousand dollars from one of the savings banks and place it in a bag. He was then induced to accompany them to their rendezvous and persuaded to leave his bag in their custody for safe keeping while he conveyed home a bag belonging to them containing what he was deluded into believing a money belt with a much larger sum of money in it. The pretext invented for this arrangement was that it would be inconvenient for him to carry home both bags at once. The arrangement was made that he should call there the following morning and then take his own bag home. When he went there at the given time the thieves had flown with their plunder.

Railroad Freights.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 2.—The following dispatch was forwarded east by the president of Central Pacific railroad this morning:

To Sidney Dillon, President of the U. P. R. R. Co., New York: The proposed advance in rates from July 29th as per circular, issued by your freight agent, Mr. Vinen, we consider unwise. We recognize in you the same right to control rates from that side on freight coming west that you concede to us on freight from here going east; but our idea is that instead of advance in rates upon classes of goods mentioned, reduction would be better, and we earnestly recommend that you direct a withdrawal of the circular. We think that some other way may be devised to protect ourselves against impositions practised by shippers.

LELAND STANFORD.

Another Murder.

A. M. Tullis, a wealthy farmer residing on Grand Island, Sacramento county, was murdered yesterday evening. The following details have been received: Upon hearing of the murder of A. M. Tullis, a reporter hastened to deceased's ranch on Grand Island and there found assembled around the body a majority of the settler's of the island, who were discussing the reasons of the cold blooded murder. Strong suspicion rests upon two unknown men who were seen coming down the river in a small boat. They went direct to Tullis.' There one of the men landed and went to the house, where he inquired of the Chinaman who was there where the boss of the ranch was and what his name was. The Chinaman directed him to where Tullis was at work budding trees. He went in that direction, and that was the last the Chinaman saw of him. It was then about 7 P. M. The Chinaman heard no shots fired, but parties who live just across the river from where the body was found say they heard three distinct shots, also shouts of men and barking of a dog, but they had no suspicion of anything wrong, thinking that some men were on a coon hunt. Mr. Tullis was shot while running. The murderers must have placed a revolver against his spine and shot him, when he fell, and then must have shot him in the neck. The appearances of the ground show that he died without a struggle. Tracks of the murderers are plainly visible in the orchard and can be tracked back to the river where their boat was tied. No trace of suspected parties has been found yet. The cause of the murder is a mystery. It was not done for robbery, as the pockets of the deceased were not rifled and the house was not entered by them. Citizens will hold a meeting to-morrow to take steps to discover the murderers. A large reward will be offered.

Murder Near Stockton.

STOCKTON, Aug. 2.—This morning a homicide occurred at Farmington, on the Stockton & Visalia Railroad. J. P. McCleery, saloon keeper, was killed by Geo. Abbott, a farmer living eight miles east of Farmington. Coroner Blake was notified, and went to Farmington to hold the inquest, Deputy Sheriff Atwood accompanying to bring Abbott to jail. Abbott's wife is the cause of the trouble. McCleery was formerly employed by Abbott on his ranch, and there an intimacy between him and Abbott's wife commenced.

The More Murder Trials.

SAN BUENAVENTURA, Aug. 2—At the opening of the court this morning, in reply to the council his honor said, that if time permitted another prisoner would be tried after Lord, but that this term of the court must end on Saturday, 10th inst. He did not anticipate that another case would be taken up. The time fixed for passing sentence upon Sprague having arrived, his honor directed the sheriff to bring him into court. His wife and daughter followed him. Haymond, for the prisoner, asked for a new trial; first, on the ground that the court had made erroneous rulings as to matters of law; that the deposition of Hickerson was improperly admitted; that the court refused to instruct the jury that the witness who made one false statement is to be distrusted in all. Counsel stated that the point as to non-reading of the indictment could not properly be argued upon a motion of this kind. Judge Granger, on the state, briefly stated that counsel for the people thought no error had been committed, unless it was a mere oversight, which worked no harm to defendant. The court took the motion under advisement and remanded the prisoner until Monday morning at 9 o'clock, at which time the motion will be decided. At 11 o'clock, one more juror having been obtained in the Lord case, making 11 in all, and the panel being exhausted, the court ordered another venire to issue, and adjourned the court until to-morrow morning.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Increased Coal Shipments—A Steamboat Burned—The Chinese Labor Question—Beautiful Marble.

VICTORIA, Aug. 1.—The coal shipments to San Francisco for the six months ending June 30th last aggregate 67,619 tons, against 31,185 tons shipped for the first six months of 1877. During the last six months there has been sold 47,923 tons by the Vancouver Company and 44,385 tons by the Wellington Company.

The Fraser river steamer Union took fire Tuesday night while proceeding to Burrard Inlet with a cargo of hay and was entirely destroyed. The officers and hands escaped.

The following resolution has passed the parliament unanimously: That this house is of opinion that Chinese should not be employed upon the public works of the province and that a clause should be inserted in the specifications of all contracts awarded to the effect that contractors will not be permitted to employ Chinese labor upon the work and that in the event of their doing so the government will not be responsible for payment of contract.

The first shipment of taxada marble from Sturt's quarry has reached Victoria. It is of very fine grade.

THE INDIAN WAR!

Howard's Whereabouts—Indians Dividing into Small Parties.

SILVER CITY, Aug. 2.—A dispatch from Rocky canyon, July 31st, states that Howard's command that day would be at or near Camp Lyon.

Small trails indicate that the Indians are scattering and going toward Owyhee.

WHITE BIRD AGAIN.

THAT INDIAN SCRUB ONCE MORE AT THE BATTLE GROUND IN THE FORKS OF CLEARWATER WITH FORTY WARRIORS—WILL NOT SURRENDER, BUT HAS COME BACK TO GET WHAT BELONGS TO HIM.

LEWISTON, July 31, 5 P. M., via WALLA WALLA, Aug. 2.

White Bird is on Clear creek in the forks of Clearwater above Kamia, and has possession of the old battle ground. He has about 40 warriors with him. The Kamia's have interviewed him to learn his intentions, whether to surrender or still be on the warpath. They say they will not surrender, that they have come to get what belongs to them. They are well armed and partially mounted. They have been in the Elk City mountains for weeks. The excitement on Kamia prairie is great. Sixty volunteers are in readiness to proceed against them. Major Hancock has advised a little delay till more can be ascertained of their intention. Col. McConville will leave here in the morning for Mt. Idaho to command the volunteers. Many apprehensions exist that White Bird is backed by some of Sitting Bull's men who are scattered through the mountains. Most men think that White Bird intends further mischief. There are no troops here in this section that can make a stand against even White Bird's band of forty. The volunteers will be compelled to do the fighting if any is done at an early date. The Kamias, sixty in number, under James Lawyer, were to go out to-day to ascertain the purpose of the White Bird band, and they will communicate with Major Hancock as often as may be necessary. The excitement seems determined to continue.

LELAND.

The Indians on their Retreat.

[Olive Creek Letter, July 22.]

Col. Forsythe and Bernard passed here to-day at 4 o'clock P. M.—about 250 soldiers in all. Umatilla Indians have Egan's head and both arms. Eagle Eye was killed some four days ago, and am positive they killed Buffalo Horn. I overtook part of Forsythe's command about one mile from here this afternoon. Crossed the Indian warriors' trail about five miles from here at 2 o'clock; they had not passed over one hour ahead of me, as their dust was plainly seen. The stock of the hostiles crossed the Baker and Canyon stage road 2½ miles above Middle Fork station yesterday, supposed to be about 300 warriors. Forsythe's command camp on Burnt river to-night.

A Frenchman named Peter Lambert (a partner of Galebour) is supposed to have been killed yesterday, as he started for Olive creek about the time the hostiles passed.

Col. Forsythe had a fight on Saturday on North Fork with Indians. One soldier was killed and several wounded—one badly, who is left here at Olive creek out of grub.

Ocho Gives Up.

[From the Grant County Times.]

Ocho, the Piute chief who has been depredating in Stein mountain and Warner valley, sent word to the commander at Fort Bidwell that he would come in with his band of 60 warriors and give up his arms provided Captain Wagner would insure him protection from the settlers who he complains are picking off his good (?) Indians every day. He owns to burning one house—probably the Pea Ranch, French's place—and says he is tired of fighting. They were to come in to Fort Bidwell last week. Ocho is a Piute, and has been ranging in the Warner valley country for the past two or three years.

Sutro Tunnel Prospects

SUTRO, Aug. 2.—By measurement yesterday Sutro tunnel shows the extraordinary progress of 102 feet made since the previous measuring day, July 22d, and a total length of 20,210 feet from its mouth. The west wall of the Comstock, it is expected, will be cut in a few weeks, after which the construction of a covered drain to carry off the hot water of the mines will be commenced. The cutting of this drain in solid rock three feet square and four miles in length will probably require from six to eight months, and no water from the Comstock lode can be permitted to be pumped into it until this drain is quite completed and covered over. With a powerful draft sweeping through the tunnel, an open stream of water flowing through the same at a temperature of 160 degrees would create an atmosphere of steam that would be fatal to life. A quartz ledge 80 feet in width has lately been traversed which gives assays averaging $15 per ton. It is said that it can be extracted and milled at a profit through the tunnel.

Objecting to the high price of gas Cincinnati has started in to break the monopoly by the use of oil lamps. Within the last three months over 4,000 gas metres have been taken out and 20,000 oil lamps have been sold that are of a shape convenient to be placed upon gas fixtures. The gas company is growing very anxious, and gas fitters are in distress. A saving of from 60 to 65 per cent, is claimed.

TREASURY CURRENCY STATEMENT

A good deal has been heard during the past few years of "remorseless contraction" It is a phrase employed by those who attribute hard times to the financial policy of the government who assume that the volume of paper currency has been diminished in obedience to the demands of "Shylocks" and who believe in irredeemable paper as a cure for industrial depression and all financial ills. There is, however, a fact which works somewhat against this "remorseless contraction" clap trap That fact is that there has been only a very slight nominal contraction of the paper currency of the country since the close of the war and that there has not only been no actual contraction but in effect a positive increase This is demonstrated by tables recently published by the treasury department, which show that the gold valuation of the present circulation of the country is actually much greater than it was ten years ago The volume of paper then outstanding was $720 412 603, but of this total, $28,717,302 consisted of five and six per cent. interest bearing notes, which never were in effective circulation Deducting these notes from the total, we have $691 695,301 as the entire effective circulation on the 30th June, 1866, the gold value of which was $505,009,234 This statement includes greenbacks, national bank notes and state bank circulation Against this paper circulation of 1868, which nominally was $691 695,301 but was actually worth nearly thirty per cent less, there was on the 30th June 1878 a total paper circulation of $688,231,870, having a gold valuation of $684,465,692 It will therefore be seen that the amount of paper now in circulation is nominally only $3 463 531 less than that outstanding in 1868 while its actual or gold value is greater by $179 456,458 Where does the "remorseless contraction" which has been tightening its folds upon all prosperity during the last ten years, come in?

These figures are derived from an official treasury statement made on the 18th July 1878. The greenbacker who will examine it will perceive that his apostles and prophets who are telling him that in the "good times" of ten years ago the volume of paper currency amounted to sixteen or eighteen hundred millions, and that the country has been ruined by contraction of it, are talking enormous nonsense.

It scarcely need be said that in June, 1861, the paper circulation consisted of state bank notes exclusively This kind of circulation reached its maximum in 1863, when it amounted to $238,677,218. Government paper, or the greenback, first appears in the statement for 1862, and national bank notes in the statement for 1864. These last notes rapidly expanded to $298,625,378 in 1867, or nearly the legal limit. During the same period the state bank notes fell from their maximum of $238,677,218 to $4,484,112. The largest amount of greenbacks outstanding at one time was $432,687,966. This was in 1865. All above the limit of $400,000,000 had been issued for the redemption of a temporary loan made necessary by the demand for currency with which to pay off the troops and meet other extraordinary expenditures at the close of the war.

The value of one thousand greenback dollars in 1864 was only $387 in gold. By 1868 the same amount of greenbacks was worth $701. Now they are virtually equal, dollar for dollar, with gold. The purchasing power of the currency of the country is now more than double what it was in 1864, and its nominal amount is only $59,000,000 less than 1865, when its volume was greatest, it having been specially increased to meet great payments at the close of the war. But the excess thus issued was immediately redeemed and the volume of greenbacks brought within the $400,000,000 limit, which it has never since exceeded.

HISTORY'S CAPRICES.

Rivalry between Great Britain and Russia promises great development of civilization in Asia. Russia now proposes railroad extension for a distance of one thousand miles southeastward from the terminus of her present lines in Asia, which would bring her within a few hundred miles of British India On the other hand the English, since their government has assumed a virtual protectorate over Asiatic Turkey, propose a railroad from the Mediterranean at or near Smyrna to Busra, on the Persian gulf, a distance of eight hundred miles, which would give even a quicker route to India than that by the Suez canal. Whether Russia shall succeed in her efforts or not, it is quite certain that one of the first results of British control of Turkey in Asia will be railroads. In carrying out her policy those great agents of civilization will not long be neglected. The steam whistle will make strange music as it echoes from the mountains of Damascus and bellows against the tunnel walls as the train dashes through Mount Lebanon It is rather queer to think of a conductor punching tickets on the "Jerusalem and Jericho R. R.," and shouting to hungry passengers, "Sodom—twenty minutes for dinner—passengers for Gomorrah take the next car forward!" Or imagine the checkman with his string of brasses passing through the train calling out, "Passengers going beyond Bethlehem can have their baggage checked clear through to Ophir, those stopping at Jerusalem may have it taken to any hotel in the city!" Yet even thus might the West, so long ruled by mighty influences with which these names are associated, now return upon the East with missionaries of another civilization, reinforcing the authority of the holy texts with steam and gunpowder and all the appliances by which a country is subdued robbed, enriched and forced to take its place in the line of modern development

PROBABLY EXAGGERATED

The New York Times makes a summary of the nature and strength of the third party movement in that state. It finds the organization everywhere aggressive. The present [illegible] of its managers is the acquisition of the balance of power, since they cannot hope for more. There is great lack of harmony in its principles and purposes as [illegible] of diverse political and social [illegible] In the towns its membership is [illegible] mainly from the Democrats who [illegible] those who want to reform labor without working themselves and the class tending to communism. The farmers of both parties furnish the greenbackers pure and simple. Of course these have no sympathy with the dead beat semi socialistic class which constitutes so large an element in the new party. The greenbackers control the party for the time, furnishing the money and most of such brains as the organization can boast The fact is accepted, therefore, on the data given, that the greenback movement supposed heretofore to have no lodgment in New York, is really making headway in that state The Times in view of this supposition, urges the necessity of both the Republican and Democratic parties abandoning old issues and squarely meeting the one overshadowing financial question But it is apparent that an organization embracing factions at war with each other in sentiment and governed by diverse motives can at best be but short lived The farmers of the country who even now have to band together for protection of their property against those who would reform labor by destroying the machinery used in gathering their crops will not be long in discovering that they can have no affiliation with a party which whatever may be the declarations of its platform, gives practical evidence of a disposition and determination to make war on the rights of property and by a species of terrorism reduce the farming districts to a condition of anarchy These "labor reformers," so called, may be all greenbackers but all greenbackers cannot be labor reformers of their ilk They who are captivated with the idea that an unlimited issue of irredeemable paper will bring about prosperity are not so numerous as their spouters would make us believe and their numbers will grow less as the aims and tendencies of the movement become well understood

The disagreement reported among Republicans in the Erie, Pa district will probably cause the loss of another Republican member of congress It is the old claim of locality There are three counties in the district Erie Warren and Venango The present member Watson, is a Warren county man Erie county, having more votes than both the others, this year claimed the nomination But Venango also put forth a candidate and Erie's strength in the convention not being in proportion to its full Republican vote could not quite nominate its man over the other two counties. There was a long struggle in the district convention each county standing by its candidate After a hundred ballots or more it took a recess of some days and then again assembled Finally some of the Erie delegates worn out with the struggle gave it up and allowed the Venango candidate to be nominated But the Republicans of Erie, who had instructed their delegates to stand by Reed, their own candidate now repudiate the nomination, and will run Reed anyhow Thus a district which is Republican by 3 500 majority will probably be lost As every seat will count in the close contest for control of the house, the Republicans can ill afford to lose a single district Probably these dissensions in the party throughout the country can be stopped only by a general defeat which will reduce all the members of the party once more to a common level The Democratic party was in this condition—only more so—in 1860

Charles Foster, who represents the eighth district of Ohio in congress, has been known as one of the strongest friends and supporters of President Hayes But Foster now says the president by his course has alienated a large portion of his party Such a statement from such a source is considered significant Foster has been renominated, but the Democrats have gerrymandered his district so that his fight is hopeless A map of the district looks like an ichthyosaurus doubled up with the colic, and in making it up so anxious were they to beat Foster, that they extended the district in various directions till they got 4,000 Democratic majority within its limits Foster now runs to be beaten, but believes that his pluck will bring him the nomination for the governorship next year.

In Pennsylvania the political trimmers who have charge of both parties are down on their knees before the greenback monster Says the Philadelphia Record "It would be the political making of any man in either party who has in him the true elements of leadership to meet this delusion half way, to show the people the folly and the falsehood which are covered up in the idea of an unreal tender. The attempt to rebuild industrial prosperity upon this make-shift must end in failure The attempt to construct a political party upon a false principle will only bring its authors into ridicule How contemptible then, is the man who in his heart despises this popular infatuation and yet spreads his sails to catch the vagrant wind that drags the ship of state away from its safe anchorage"

It has long been a subject of uncertainty and conjecture where the Indians obtained their ammunition during hostilities with the whites. A letter received by Secretary Schurz from the United States commissioner at Salt Lake City, dated the 16th July, sheds some light on the subject. The commissioner says that the Mormon co operative stores throughout Utah and portions of Idaho supply hostile Indians directly or indirectly with all kinds of ammunition, and that these stores under the management of the Mormon priesthood, are located along the Indian border, and in all the towns and hamlets of the territory of Utah, and also in Idaho

A favorable report comes by telegraph of the prospect of extension of the Northern Pacific from the Missouri river to the Yellowstone, a distance of two hundred miles That there should be a prospect of this kind under present circumstances shows conclusively that the great work would now be in rapid progress had the extension bill passed last winter And why didn't it pass? Because Senator Mitchell obstructed it It would have gone through beyond all manner of doubt, had not Mr. Mitchell been in the senate, or being there had he not been at the head of the railroad committee.

SATURDAY MORNING, AUGUST 3, 1878

CITY.

WORK PROGRESSING —The corner of Washington and Front streets presents a very busy scene. The old American Exchange building has been cut in twain and one section is on rollers and is now moving up Front street. It is Mr Smith's purpose to place the building on the vacant block just south of the Furniture Factory. The work of tearing up the dilapidated wharf which stands in back of the old hotel building is going forward rapidly, and, soon all traces of this landmark will vanish. The river is falling fast, and the extreme low water mark will shortly be reached, so that it will be necessary to push the work forward as expeditiously as possible to take advantage of the stage of water in driving piles for the wharf and laying the foundation for the proposed building. As yet, we understand, Mr Smith has not definitely determined whether to erect a hotel or store buildings. It is his purpose to crowd work forward as rapidly as practicable and have the building ready for occupancy before the winter rains shall set in. Already a barge loaded with stone for the foundation lies moored opposite the partially demolished wharf.

INCREASING THE FACILITIES.—Soon the golden cereal will commence to pour into the lap of Portland from the Willamette valley and the dry cough of the locomotive and the thunderous rumble of the heavily loaded freight trains will be heard at all hours of the night on the east track. Anticipating the great rush of business and the vast quantities of wheat to be handled daily, the Portland Dock Company are making very extensive improvements to their wharf just below the railroad ferry landing. The wharf is being extended and the facilities for safe and rapid handling of grain greatly augmented. A large force of men are engaged, and the extensive and much needed improvement will be completed in time for the opening of the grain season, now so near at hand.

A SANGUINARY MEMENTO.—Yesterday morning while Mr. Geo. Hoyt, freight clerk for the O. S. N. Co., was examining a quantity of wool which was shipped down the river from Eastern Oregon, he came across a bale which attracted his attention. On looking carefully at the bale he observed the following: "This wool went through the Indian war." Below this was painted the names of four teamsters who were killed. The coarse cloth enclosing the wool was stained with blood in several places. The bale came from some point in Umatilla county, and there is little doubt but that the teamsters who were hauling it to some place for shipment were killed by the perfidious red devils.

[illegible]—Pluck and business energy is not confined to this side of the river alone, a praiseworthy fact which we are gratified to state. East Portland was recently visited by a fiery scourge and a good portion of the business part of the city swept remorselessly away. But those who suffered loss do not propose to yield to adversity and abandon business. We understand that a number of brick buildings are soon to be erected in the burned district, and work will probably be commenced at once. It is quite probable that the city will erect a two story brick building for its own use. Such energy under [illegible] is truly very commendable.

A [illegible]—Mr. Guild, the genial and accommodating telegraphic operator for the O. S. N. Co. in this city has made arrangements with parties in San Francisco [illegible] in a week or two to bring a phonograph to Portland. Those who have [illegible] these wonderful instruments [illegible] is "hardly a circumstance" [illegible] who is thoroughly [illegible] operations of the phonograph [illegible] the instrument. An [illegible] will be afforded the public to [illegible] this marvelous invention talk, [illegible]. Of course everybody [illegible] the "hinstrument."

[illegible]—The time of the year [illegible] when great precaution is [illegible] the system against the [illegible] of miasma. Not only has [illegible] come, but also the ague [illegible] attention should be paid to the [illegible] and diet. The air is [illegible] poison, and disinfectants [illegible] without stint. The whole [illegible] is covered to the [illegible] with an emerald [illegible] exhalations arising [illegible] water alone are sufficient [illegible] the whole city. [illegible]

[illegible]—Hedge, Davis & Co., [illegible] enterprising firm, have shown [illegible] and good sense by subscribing [illegible] DAILY OREGONIAN and sending it [illegible]. The paper can be found [illegible] house, No. 116 Front street, [illegible]. They are the only business [illegible] who take the trouble to keep [illegible] from day to day. Oregonians who [illegible] should not forget this, and give [illegible] they desire to keep thoroughly [illegible] matters. Daily files are [illegible] the Merchants' Exchange.

[illegible] NEW BOAT.—Work on Mr [illegible] new boat, which now lies on [illegible] a short distance above Weidler's [illegible] is being crowded forward rapidly. From [illegible] appearances the new craft will soon [illegible] launch. The new boat, when [illegible] will be one of the most complete [illegible] crafts of its size on the river [illegible] placed on the Portland-Vancouver [illegible] place of the Vancouver. The boat will probably be ready for the trial trip within [illegible] months.

[illegible]—Mr. Barnard, the county assessor, desires to have all property owners who have been furnished with blank [illegible] and who have not returned them [illegible] office, to do so at once. The board of equalization will meet on Monday, August [illegible] is very desirable to have all persons hand in their statements as soon as possible [illegible] to enable Mr Barnard to prepare [illegible] prior to the convening of the board. Hand them in, gentlemen, and save trouble.

[illegible]—A note from a prominent [illegible] at Woodburn, Marion county, dated [illegible] 31, says: "The winter wheat in this [illegible] turns out about an average [illegible] say 20 bushels per acre. The [illegible] is exceedingly plump and bright. No [illegible] wheat was ever raised in this valley. [illegible] 77½c per bushel. We shipped [illegible] the first car of new wheat from [illegible] this season. We fear the spring [illegible] will be light in places."

FAST RIDING.—Last evening a young man [illegible] mounted a horse and went [illegible] up and down the streets at a furious [illegible]. He was soon overhauled and taken to the police station, where, on depositing the [illegible] he was released. Muller was [illegible] intoxicated at the time of the [illegible] and gave as an excuse that he was not [illegible] that an ordinance was in existence [illegible] fast riding.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—At present a great [illegible] of much needed street improvements are [illegible] vigorously prosecuted in various portions of the city, and there is a general re[illegible] of decayed and dilapidated side[illegible]. Third and Sixth streets are being [illegible] and substantially improved now. The [illegible] has not been commenced any [illegible] either.

[illegible] OVERHAULED.—The steamer [illegible] is now high and dry at the [illegible]. Most of the old and water soaked [illegible] has been torn off and replaced by [illegible]. From stem to stern the boat will be [illegible] made as good as new. Over [illegible] will be expended by the O S N Co [illegible] overhauling this boat.

[illegible] LIST.—The following letters remain uncalled for at the express office: Miss Anna [illegible], Kendell W Cowes F Carbillet, H [illegible], Jos. Gaston, Mrs H Gregory, [illegible] Miss Mary Hoffman Prof J [illegible] Harris Miss Mary Kincaid, [illegible] Frank Molina P Ritz Thos. [illegible] Simon Young

All are cordially invited.

WEEKLY OREGONIAN.—No better number of THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN has ever been issued than the current one. It is the old original and complete weekly newspaper published in Oregon. The best any other weekly newspaper in the state can do is to reprint a portion of THE OREGONIAN'S matter in an abridged, mutilated and unsatisfactory form. The enormous circulation of the paper is due solely to its excellence as a newspaper. Price at the counter with or without wrappers 10 cents.

THE STEINWAY PIANOS AGAIN

A RECOMMENDATION AND TESTIMONIAL FROM LEADING ARTISTS IN THE WORLD

The Piano Fortes manufactured by Messrs Steinway & Sons have established for themselves a world wide a reputation that it is hardly possible for us to add anything to their great fame.

Having thoroughly tested and tried these instruments personally for years both in public and private it becomes our pleasant duty to express our candid opinion regarding their unquestioned superiority over any other Piano known to us.

Among the chief points of their uniform excellence are: Greatest possible depth richness and volume of tone combined with a rare brilliancy clearness and perfect evenness throughout the entire scale and above all a surprising duration of sound the pure and sympathetic quality of which never changes under the most delicate or powerful touch.

This peculiarity is found exclusively in the Steinway Piano and together with the matchless precision elasticity and promptness of action always characterizing these instruments as well as their unequaled durability under the severest trials, is truly surprising. We therefore consider the Steinway Pianos in all respects the best instruments made in this country or in Europe use them solely and exclusively ourselves in public and private and recommend them invariably to our friends and the public.

We have at different times expressed our opinions regarding the pianos of various makers but freely and unhesitatingly pronounce Messrs STEINWAY & SONS Pianos superior to them all.

THAT LITTLE PLACE OF BROWN'S

[From Harper's Weekly]

The place was mine and we lived as cosily there, my wife and little daughter and I as birds in a nest, until the Blacks some old friends of ours from the city came to live in our neighborhood

We were at supper one night when my wife told me,

"They're going to take the French roofed house around the corner said Sally with the big extension and the conservatory and as I happened to be walking just as the trucks came down, I couldn't help seeing that the parlor furniture is of crimson satin damask and ebony—I think its ebony but I won't be sure," continued my wife, but at any rate it's inlaid.

'Well that's a comfort any way, said I "If you're positive it's inlaid, Sally, you can perhaps go on with your supper'

"Yes' she said so preoccupied with her theme that she hadn't eaten a morsel 'and there's the handsomest bedroom set for Jane that I 'most ever laid my eyes on it's one of these dressing bureaus, Joe with a magnificent plate glass that reaches down to the floor'

"That's good said I You can run around there when you have your next gown fitted, and see the hang of it

"I don't expect to run around there, said Sally, craning her neck up stiffly turning up the end of her nose, and drawing her lips down

"Why, what's the matter? said I 'Wasn't Jane friendly? I've done many a good turn for Black in my day and I hope they're not going to turn the cold shoulder now—

"Oh, she was friendly enough,' said Sally, "but we can't expect, Joe that people living in that kind of style can be upon terms of intimacy with people that live as we do There are certain restrictions in society—

"Restrictions be hanged!' I cried I'm as good a man as Black any day in the week

'You're as good as the president, for that matter,' said Sally but it's all like a pair of scales, Joe, when one goes up another goes down, and from the way things look it'll take a pretty heavy weight on the Blacks' side to bring them down to our position"

I must own this kind of logic vexed me a little. I know pretty well how Black stood commercially and I told Sally there wasn't a feather's weight on his side so far as the favors of fortune were concerned If he has a mind to live above his means," said I ' he can do it, and take the consequences"

"He has just as good a right to live above his means,' said Sally, "as you have to live beneath yours."

This was her Parthian arrow as I went out the door, and it rankled a little all the way down in the train, the more sharply that I found Black the center of an admiring bevy at the depot. He had quite an imposing make-up and a glib tongue, which he used in inveighing against our system of paying He complained of the condition of a good many things in our young township and seemed to gain popularity with every fault that he found At last he spied me and was exceedingly loud and effusive in his salutation.

"Hallo, Brown!" he said, shaking my hand again and again, and declaring to the people about him I was an old friend whom he was glad to unearth "I've run you down, you sly fox. That's a very snug little place around the corner—very snug indeed!"

I wouldn't have believed it possible I could have been such an ass as to feel flattered by this familiarity of Black's, but I found myself smirking and nodding with great complacency. Here were at least half a dozen of the gentry about me who lived in big houses in my neighborhood, that I had been going up and down to the city with for years, yet scarcely knew them well enough for an exchange of civilities, and here was Black already hand in glove with the finest of them It makes me sick now when I remember that I turned my back on poor old White, and went toadying on with this aristocracy. White lived in even a smaller house than mine, and had hard work to pay for that He had failed in business some years before, and I don't know what they would have done without their boy, Bob. He was with me in the city, and I knew that a goodly portion of the lad's earnings were given over to the support of the house. It was rather hard for Bob, but he bore his lot with great resignation. He came over pretty often to have a game of cribbage and talk over business matters with me, and I found him sharp enough at both. Then he had a pleasant way with the women. Our little Rosalie was little more than a child, but Sally used to brighten up when Bob came in, till she got into that kink about the Blacks.

"You'll stay here with Rosalie, won't you, Bob, till we come back?" I said to young White; and as I spoke I felt Sally give a savage pinch to my arm. No sooner were we outside the door than she began about poor Bob.

"If you have no regard for your daughter's future, and choose to throw her away on a poor miserable beggar like Bob White—" began Sally.

"Why, my dear," I broke in, "Rosalie's a mere child. Don't begin to plan about her future, I beg of you. She's scarcely left off her pinafores, and if ever there was 'maiden meditation, fancy free,' anywhere, it lies in the brown eyes of our Rosalie."

By this time we had reached the imposing portal of Black's house, and were soon ushered into the presence of the satin damask and ebony. Black's children were none of them grown, but were precocious enough to take the lead in conversation; and we sat for a whole mortal hour and listened to the eldest girl hammer out upon the piano what Mrs. Black called a "reverie." I was glad when Black took me into his library, where there were some good cigars and some pretty fair wine, and we left the women to themselves.

But a goodly quantity of poison was infused into Sally's system and mine before we left the big luxurious house, and we went home together as changed as if touched by the rod of an enchanter

"Dear me!" said Sally, "what a little cubby hole this is! I declare it's quite like a baby house!"

"I'd like to have a library like Black's," said I, taking up the refrain 'It's nice to have a room," I continued, to Bob White "where a man can take his friends. It would be far pleasanter, for instance, if you and I could have our game of cribbage without the continual gabble of women in our ears"

"Oh, I don't think so," said Bob—"I don't think so at all"

The lad looked over at Rosalie and blushed ingenuously. The color deepened in Rosalie's cheeks till it went far ahead of the crimson in Black's satin damask upholstery, and a shy gleam shot from her brown eyes that sent a flood of light into my obtuse cranium

I began to think that Sally was right. Bob White was all very well in his way but no sort of a match for my daughter Rosalie. She was my one ewe lamb—the bonniest best and dearest little girl the sun ever shone upon. And besides all this, there was the secret consciousness that she could, if she wanted to, dress in silk attire, and siller hae to spare." I hadn't lived in a plain way all these years for nothing. People about me began to realize that although Brown lived in a small house, he was a man of no inconsiderable means. Black had managed to convey this intelligence to them, and I found no fault with the friendliness on his part. Old White never thought of such a thing as taking the seat beside me now on our way down in the train; it was generally filled by more popular parties, and I began to take quite an interest in the social and political points of discussion.

All this cost me considerable in the way of time and money My games of cribbage were few and far between and I put my name to [illegible] subscriptions they chose to get up [illegible] the money, and I had long [illegible] that the less Rosalie saw of [illegible] White the better. The color grew a little less vivid in her rounded cheeks, and the light less mischievous and joyous in her eyes, but Sarah said—I thought this was really a more suitable name for my wife's years and dignity—that her beauty was growing more and more refined every day It had even lately attracted the attention of Mr Percival Green, the junior member of Black's firm, and Green was one of those live, active business fellows who was sure to make his mark in the world. I told my wife to spare happiness for Rosalie's advancement and spirit upon it, was sorry to see a lack of partake of the part, and a quiet denial to

One thing was [illegible] of popularity must be taken to put [illegible] assures Bob White that could not readily be bridged over. The whole White family were as proud as Lucifer, and I knew I should have very little trouble in convincing them that the old intimacy had better be broken off My new house on the Boulevard began to take notable dimensions and had already cost me a mint of money Its marble halls were spacious enough to chill me to the bone and there was quite a melancholy expanse of mud and masonry in its vicinity

I felt rather surprised when I put our snug little place in the hands of the agent that my wife was so willing to part with the furniture too I thought a few of the familiar old time servers might be used to advantage somewhere in the new house and I confess to a feeling of keen disappointment when she decided that every thing must go

We don't want to set up a second hand junk shop on the Boulevard said Sarah and I was ashamed to foster these old fashioned sentiments till one morning I found Rosalie crying over my old arm chair in the sitting room It was a bungling old thing covered with a queer pattern of chintz where the tail of each bird of paradise had gradually faded with many a washing but the baggy back seemed to have fitted itself to my weary spine and the well worn arms of the chair were always cordially held out to me

I'm glad I've got a tear or two to spare Rosy I said at parting with old friends I'll never get another so lenient with my rickety bones'

I'll never part with it father said Rosalie And I didn't care to tell her of her mother's decree

In the meantime however I had broken the intelligence to poor Bob as kindly as I could that it would be better to cease his visits at the house I think as well as I remember that I did put the blame upon my wife I was glad to see that he took my communication in a manly practical way and bore up under it wonderfully It troubled me that Rosalie seemed to take the matter so much more to heart Young Green's turn out was seen quite frequently at our door that winter and I was tired of my wife's apologies about the house and its appurtenances Every day that drew me nearer to the draughty chaos on the Boulevard lent a warmer charm to the snug little home I was leaving and I found I was not alone in my appreciation No sooner had it become known that my little place was in the market than offers began to pour in from different quarters All these offers were referred to the agent who told me one morning as he was passing that the house had been rented and the furniture sold some time since to a young married couple

Here's another pair in search of a nuptial nest, I said as I propped up an ingeniously carved bit of a cigar box on the maple-tree beneath my window I felt a little blue as I went in to breakfast and I had scarcely broken my egg when the bell rang and I found Black at the door His face was ashy pale and his hand trembled upon his gold headed cane

'No more bad news' I stammered out for some speculations of ours had turned out very disastrously of late

I'm a ruined man' said Black sinking into a chair by the parlor door

Big beads of terror started to my own forehead

Green has disappeared the scoundrel said Black, and of course I shall be accused of complicity with the defaulter'

'Naturally I said dryly for I was too wretched myself to have any sympathy to spare

"This is a confidential visit Brown continued Black I shall have to fall back upon what little money remains to my wife and I've come around here at her suggestion to hire this little place of yours for the coming year'

"My good gracious?" said a voice behind us, and there stood Sally, as red as the feathers in the duster she held in her hand

'Yes, Mrs Brown" said Black 'we've always been fond of this little place and I really believe we shall be as happy here in our adversity as you will in your new fine house"

"Perdition seize my fine new house and every one that has led me into this mud dirt!' I cried, beside myself with fright and vexation 'You know well that I shan't have the money now to go on with it It will be all I can do to keep from bankruptcy myself'

"God forbid that I should refuse to aid my husband in this extremity'' said Sally, with great nobility of accent and manner "We'll make the sacrifice ourselves Joe we'll keep our own little place, we'll go on in the old way, dear We'll stay here ourselves, Joe"

"I'm obliged to you for your consideration, madam," I replied but when the horse is gone, ' it's too late to shut the stable door The house is let and the furniture sold"

"My furniture sold!' shrieked Sally, 'Oh! oh! my furniture, my dear old furniture taken from me! Why, they can't do it! they shan't! it's mine It ain't yours They can't take my things for your debts"

"Just wait," said I, 'will you, till you're called upon to pay my debts? You gave orders for the furniture to be sold and the house to be rented yourself. The agent told me this morning that a young married couple had taken them. We'll have to go to town and take a furnished flat"

"A furnished flat!" echoed my wife, sinking into a chair, and covering her face with her apron—"a furnished flat!' And although I can safely swear she had time and again held this way of living to be domestic felicity, there was an unspeakable misery in her view of it now. 'I wish I was dead!' she said "I'd rather go to my grave than to a furnished flat—just in the lovely springtime when the Brahmas are beginning to set and the strawberry bed is one mass of bloom Oh, my poor child'' she cried to Rosalie who had run in and thrown herself at her mother's knee, 'your Mr Green has turned out to be a nasty defaulter. A young married couple have robbed us of house and home, and your father has the cruelty to talk to me of a furnished flat'

'He isn't my Mr Green, Rosalie broke in, "nor ever was, and the married couple won't rob you of anything but—but a—a bad, undutiful daughter You shall stay here mother dear, and—and Bo—Bob and I will go to the city and take the furnished flat"

Am I to understand," said I advancing to this dear blushing weeping child and feeling a singular warmth and cheer creeping about my fainting heart— am I to believe that you and Bob are the married couple in question?"

Rosalie hung her sweet head and my wife cried out to me with the coolest assurance that she told me how it would be all along and that all further opposition on my part would be useless

You'd better go to the train, Joe she said, 'poor old Black has been gone this ten minutes And bring home some garden seeds with you and bring Bob to supper We'll all live here together And please God, my darling,' she said flinging her arms about our little daughter we'll all be happy yet!"

NEW YORK Aug 2—The stock market was unsettled this morning Granger shares for some time foremost in activity and wide fluctuations gave place to Western Union, Michigan Central Lake Shore and Erie which broke from 1 to 6¼ per cent, the latter for Western Union These shares except Erie, belong to what are known as Vanderbilt's stock, and to within the past day or two have been sustained with remarkable firmness in the face of decline in the rest of the market. Throughout the afternoon however, the market was buoyant with advance in prices of ½ to 6¾ per cent, from the lowest point of the day The features in upward movement were Western Union, Rock Island, Northwestern St. Paul and Lake Shore The market closed strong at the best figures of the day

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Acute Diseases.

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease in plain and comprehensive language. But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease mentally and physically he has restored them to health and happiness for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases Catarrh Bronchitis and all diseases of the throat and chest by an entirely new system only known to himself Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary Organs including Spermatorrhea Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world wide reputation by his astonishing success not only on this coast but throughout the whole United States Diseases of the stomach bowels liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of and never fails to give relief at once and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints and understands their delicate and refined organization as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE

over most physicians—he can tell the patients disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual This is no count in part of this great professional success

All surgical operations can be performed by his skillful hand and the patient need not fear the result will send to those living at a distance and who can not well visit his office a list of printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will forward the proper medicines or instruments to any part of the country with full instructions and advice Each letter requiring advice or list of questions must contain two postage stamps

Every thing strictly confidential and honorable

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify

CAUTION

Persons coming to Portland requiring medical treatment of the proper kind who desire to consult with me will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so called Doctors through pretended friendship for the patients Look out for them they are knaves prompted by selfish motives and what they can make Be sure and ask for DR PAUL M BRENAN the Medical Lecturer and read his sign on his door
